Valley Project Will Win, Says Englebright

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 16.—The ultimate success of the Central Valleys Water Project was prophesied here by Congressman Harry L. Englebright of Nevada City, who visited Sacramento enroute north for a swing around some of the northermost of the eighteen counties comprising his congressional district. He is running for re-election as the nominee of the Republican, Democratic and Progressive Parties.

Englebright returned recently after spending six weeks in Washington, D. C., following the close of the congressional session, in the interest of the water project.

The congressman, who is now serving his fifth term, announced he plans to visit Tehama, Shasta, Siskiyou, Lassen and Modoc counties on his present trip.

"The weather in Washington was torrid," Englebright reported, "but I felt it was necessary to remain there after congress closed to press for favorable action by the Public Works Administration on the Central Valleys Water Project.

"The reports I received from the PWA indicate there is a good chance of Superior California getting the money required."

Englebright said he will carry the matter before the congressional flood control committee, of which he is the ranking member, during the next session of congress.

YOUNG GAINING VOTES IN ALL PARTS OF STATE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—Every indication from all sections of the state points to a decisive majority for former Governor C. C. Young, for the Republican nomination for Governor in the August 28 primary; according to Richard W. Barrett, northern California campaign manager for Young.

"From every county in California we are receiving reports assuring victoroy for Mr. Young on August 28," said Barrett. "The people remember that he left a cash surplus of $31,000,000 in the state treasury at the conclusion of a term of outstanding activities and achievements as Governor. They know that he set a new record for efficiency, a business-like administration, and the carrying out of a definite programme of accomplishments. They also realize that he is the one candidate seeking the Republican nomination who is truly independent and progressive, and not dominated by boss rule, or controlled by selfish and special interests.

"With the tremendous cash surplus left by Governor Young four years ago now entirely wiped out, and a deficit of $30,000,000 already accumulated, which threatens to reach $200,000,000 at the end of the next biennium, public-spirited men and women of California are determined to have full and final say in the selection of the next Governor. They want an executive who can restore confidence in the state administration, and who has the ability and the intelligence to bring order out of the existing chaotic and bankrupt financial and administrative affairs of the state. North and south alike promise substantial majorities to C. C. Young."

STRAW VOTES

From reliable sources, additional straw vote tabulations have been received for the Republican nomination for Governor.

In Sacramento city and county, former Governor C. C. Young tallied 251 votes, against 52 for all other candidates combined. At North Sacramento Young received 14, and Merriam and Quinn 2 votes each.

In the San Joaquin Valley C. C. Young was given 303 ballots, against Merriam's 250 and 138 for Quinn.

Coast Central counties' tabulations recorded 72 for former Governor C. C. Young in Santa Clara county, 2 for Merriam, and 2 undecided. In Monterey county, C. C. Young was given 84 votes, Merriam 37, Quinn 6, and Haight 1. San Benito county showed 46 for Young, 17 for Merriam, and 6 for Quinn. In Santa Cruz county, former Governor Young showed 107 votes, Merriam 68, Quinn 12, and Haight 1.

YOUNG LEADS

At Palo Alto, the tally gave C. C. Young 57 votes, acting Governor Merriam 2, and 3 were undecided. On the Peninsula, San Bruno's town wide straw vote showed 55 ballots for former Governor Young, 6 for Merriam, 4 to Quinn, and 3 for Haight.

Alameda county tabulations, representing virtually all sections of the county, listed 257 for Young, 97 for Merriam, and 50 for John Quinn.

In San Francisco, C. C. Young had 1,037 votes, Merriam 446, Haight 82 and Quinn 63.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE VISITS NEVADA CITY

Louis P. Joerger, Democratic candidate for Congress from this district, is visiting in Grass Valley and Nevada City. Joerger is engaged in the sheep and cattle business near Burney, Shasta county. As a boy he lived in Nevada City and his father Jos. Joerger was a pioneer live stock man of this section, pasturing cattle near Truckee during the summer and wintering them around Folsom. For many years the family resided in Nevada City.

BORING MACHINE GETS RESULT AT IDAHO MARYLAND

A number of improvements and adjustments are being made on the new boring machine at the Idaho-Maryland mines. Obstacles that appear in dealing with ores of the district are being overcome. At present a foot of ore can be cut in an hour. Cores six feet in length and five feet in diameter are being taken out. If this machine is a success, it will revoultionize present methods in mining.

About 200 tons of concentrates from the Idaho-Maryland property are being treated at the enlarged cyanide plant daily.

General Manager Errol MacBoyle stated that satisfactory progress is being made in the development of this immense property. Mining is being done in the Idaho-Maryland shaft and the Brunswick shafts, and the tailings plant is treating several hundred tons of slimes per day.

MAYO FINDS FRIENDS REMEMBER HIS SERVICE

Jesse M. Mayo, assemblyman for the sixth district, of which Nevada county is a part, is spending a few days in Grass Valley and Nevada City in the interest of his candidacy. He finds most of those engaged in mining have not forgotten all the hard work he put in during the last legislation session in behalf the mining industry.

MANY FRIENDS GREET DICK COLLINS HERE

Dick Collins, chairman of the State Board of Equalization, was greeted by his many friends in this city and Grass Valley Wednesday. He attended the Miners Picnic at Lake Olympia and found many old friends here. Collins is a candidate for re-election to the board.

CITY COUNCIL "INSTRUCTED" BY PROTEST GROUP

Another meeting of water users held Monday evening in the Chamber of Commerce, resulted in the adoption of a resolution "instructing" the city council to remove two of the four city employes, "preferably" the chief of police and the city water collector, and to reduce water rates "within thirty days."

This resolution was passed following the report of Chairman Frank Finnegan, that the city council, conferring with the protest committee appointed a fortnight since, had refused to reduce water rates.

The city council did however arrange for a survey to be made regarding the irrigation rates, and Councilman Ben Hall and Water Superintendent Herb Hallet have been canvassing householders the last few weeks, making whatever adjustments in irrigation rates that seemed equitable.

MAN ACCUSED OF THEFT CAUGHT AND JAILED

Sheriff George R. Carter sent a deputy to Reno from Truckee yesterday to return Bob Wilson, who it is alleged stole copper plates from a mine in the Graniteville district last week and disposed of them in Sacramento. Reno officers made the arrest.

Wilson was lodged in the Nevada county jail yesterday afternoon and it is expected charges will be placed against him today.

C C C YOUTH'S REMAINS

The body of William Mattison, who lost his life while fighting fire near the Delhi mine last Sunday morning was forwarded Wednesday to Los Angeles for interment. Sergeant S. V. Berrington accompanied the body. The Holmes Funeral Home had charge of arrangements.

THOUSANDS AT MINERS PICNIC

Both Nevada City and Grass Valley closed their stores Wednesday afternoon to permit everyone to join in the big annual picnic of the Mine Workers Protective League at Olympia Park. The result was probably the largest picnic in recent years, as conservative estimates placed the peak attendance at 2,500.

The day was passed with sports, outdoor games, dancing and feasting wth hundreds of prizes awarded for skill and prowess. County candidates and many in the state race were present to make the acquaintance of the hundreds of voters there.

MINE LOANS TO BE TOPIC OF BIG MEETING

An important meeting is to be held at the American Legion Hall in Grass Valley, Tuesday, August 21, at which time a discussion will be held on the allotted $5,000,000. R. F. C. loan for mining. Many of the restrictions are hard now and the mining association, at their meeting in Grass Valley, hope that it can be satisfactorily explained so as to assist many mine owners in getting their properties in operation as soon as possible.

Former Senator T. L. Oddie, president of the United States Mine Association, Kamp Van Ee, and Errol MacBoyle, of Grass Valley, recently appointed to the Division of Mines, State Division of Natural Resources, and several others will be among the notable men present.

The meeting is open to the public and it is earnestly desired that all attend that possibly can.

400 C C C BOYS FIGHT FIRE IN HUMBUG CANYON

There were over 400 CCC men sent from the camps in Nevada, El Dorado and Placer counties to a big fire that started at the mouth of Humbug canyon on the south side of the American River in Placer county.

The fire started near the American Eagle mine and all the buildings were destroyed. It was then carried up the steep sides of the canyon. and is still burning. This country is particularly rough and steep making it a hard task to control the fire. R. L. P. Bigelow, superintendent of the Tahoe National Forest, from Nevada Ciy, is on the fire lines directing the work.

The fire at Rawhide, four miles down the American River from Humbug Creek, is out and men were called again on the new fire.

Men from White Cloud or the Tahoe-Ukiah camp, Challenge, Forbes CCC camps are on the fire lines.

MAIN STREET BRIDGE REPAIRS

Street Superintendent H. H. Hallett has a crew at work on the Main street bridge which crosses Deer Creek at the Plaza, replacing the stringers and flooring. The bridge has been condemned by state highway engineers.

FIRE SWEEPS 160 ACRES NEAR PURDON'S BRIDGE

About 160 acres of brush land was burned over in the district of Purdon's Bridge extending from the river to the old Auld Place. The fire is believed to have been started by snipers along the river. State Forest Ranger W. F. Sharpe and a state crew of 18 men fought the fire.

LODI MAN CHOSEN STATE LEGION HEAD

Archie Clossoon, Lodi blacksmith, was elected commander of the California Department, American Legion, over Erwin T. Quinn, Eureka attorney, at the concluding session of the annual convention here in San Fracisco, Wednesday.

COLLEGE STUDENTS RETURN

Among the young folks who have this week returned to college for the fall semester are:

Carl Hieronimous to the University of San Francisco; Deynes Foley to the University of California; Gerold Hogan to the College of Pharmacy in San Francisco; Bill Tamblyn Jr., to the University of California and Catherine Celio to the University of California. Billy Jeffery returned to U. C. this morning.

Water Shortage Slows Up Placer Operations

Owing largely to the lack of water the review of the month's activities in the mining industry reveals another small decline in the number of men employed.

While the summary given below is confined to mining developments and activities in Nevada county, however, reports received from Sierra county, especially the section around Alleghany indicates increasing activity there. Interest in the Alleghany region, in the low grade possibilities in the mineral belt at Sardine Lake, and in mines along the North Yuba has been a feature of the last two months developments.

Lack of water for hydraulic and placer mining has resulted in the practical closing of several camps until the rains come again. You Bet has reduced its working forces rom 45 to 10 men for lack of enough water to carry on sluicing operations. Remington Hill has closed and only keeps men enough there to care for the property.

New mines opened for prospecting, or old mines in which work has been resumed are Gold Blossom, Golden Triangle, Von Humboldt and the Mack mine. The Murchie and Spanish mines have slightly increased their working forces. Zeibright has recently added to its forces.

Lava Cap, which some two months ago entered the ranks of producers, employs 100 men in the Central mine.

One of the developments of the near future, which will arouse statewide interest in mining circles will be the sale of bonds and the erection of a debris dam for the Omega gravel properties. Owners of the district involved have authorized a $200,000 bond issue for this purpose under the new legislation which Assemblyman Jesse Mayo and Senator Jerry Seawell succeeded in putting through both houses in the last session of the legislature.

OMEGA MINE

A crew are busily engaged in building a new flume at the Omega gravel property in the Washington district, which is to be used for hydraulicking in the spring. The saw mill is running steadily, cutting timber for the mine and flumes. As soon as testing of bedrock for the new Black Rock dam is completed, the dam will be started.

HOGE MINE

Drifting on the newly discovered ledge in the Hoge mine continues and the company hopes to bring in another strong vein before long. The mill is operating one shift and some mining is being done.

KENTUCKY RIDGE MINE

A muller or washboard mill is being installed at the Kentucky Ridge mine west of Grass Valley, with H. D. Quinby as engineer and superintendent. It is expected the property will soon be on a producing basis with considerable ore on the dumps and in the 470 foot tunnel, which was driven on the ledge. This property was first worked by Col. English of Georgia with 100 slaves in 1851. Report is the colonel was killed by robbers while bringing a large amount of gold to Nevada City in about 1857.

ORRIN THOMPKINS MINE

New developments in recent weeks are the reopening of the Theodore Kohler property which lies between the Eagle Bird and Alaska mines in the Washington district by H. H. and Clayton Chatfield and E. K. Ashcraft. The Chatfield brothers are Nevada City residents.

A. H. Haddy and son, Richard Haddy, of Nevada City, are developing the old Thompkins property on Sugar Loaf north of Nevada City. It will be known as the Orrin Thompkins mine.

JUDGE SETS MOVING DAY FOR RIOTOUS PAIR

R. D. Chance, of Bakersfield, and his wife, who were arrested Wednesday evening by Chief of Police Garfield Robson, on a charge of disturbing the peace, were yesterday fined $25 and 10 days in jail by Municipal Judge Miles Coughlin. The sentence was suspended on condition that the couple leave town within three hours. It was charged that the two, who occupied a cabin in Redmen's Park, used loud, vile, and abusive language and that Chance threatened his neighbor with a hammer. The couple spent the night in the city jail.

TEN REASONS WHY YOUNG SHOULD BE ELECTED

1. He conserved state funds, instead of recklessly spending them, and left a surplus of $31,000,000.00. No juggling of figures can honestly show any other result.

2. He is the only candidate for Governor who knows the state's financial problems in all their complexities, and speaks intelligently about them. He has been schooled by more than twenty years of experience in state affairs.

3. Governor Young offers a program—less taxes instead of more, retrenchment and a refunding bond issue to meet the huge deficit politicians have run up, and then an iron-clad policy of holding public expenditures down to income, or in other words, a pay-as-you-go policy.

4. The state of California is in the present campaign confronted with the two extremes of reactionaryism and radicalism, the one as unreasonable and unsound as the other and as unjust and unfair in designs of exploitation. Governor Young occupies an approximate middle ground of Progressivism, which represents the sound common sense of good Americanism.

6. During his previous term, Governor Young rescued the State Railroad Commission from the grip of the public utilities and reconstituted it with men who have safe-guarded the rights of the people.

6. If elected, Governor Young will be free of newspaper or political dictatorship, which is of transcendent importance in matters of governmental economy and taxation.

7. During his four years of direction of state affairs, Governor Young kept the government singularly free of chiselers political and otherwise. His re-election would mean a clean-up of the State Capitol and a restoration of the spirit of honest service and efficiency.

8. Governor Young is shaping his course, as is manifest, so that if he is elected he can be the kind of Governor—the only kind it is worth being—that is Governor for all the people, for the great unorganized majority, and wholly free of accountability to any special interest. No other candidate offers a comparable picture of independence and as being the type of Governor the people really want.

9. Many regard Governor Young's appointments to the bench of men of ability and integrity as the greatest of all his public services. Character and strength of the judiciary is vital for the maintenance of the law. Governor Young's re-election would afford reassurance that there will be no breakdown of the constitution and the statutes.

10. In point of experience, training and education, honesty of purpose and integrity of character, former Governor Young is outstanding among the candidacies. No other man in California possesses so intimate a knowledge of the state's governmental affairs and requirements as he does. To recognize a good leader when they see him is the test of a people to conduct a government. Governor Young is the one candidate whom they know all about, know what he has done in the past, just about what he will do in the future. They know the great faith that may be reposed in him to deal with affairs in the present great crisis. This is a period when citizens are doing serious thinking, are not being swayed by political ballihoo, and in such a situation Governor Young should be recognized as by far the best leader for our state.

MACK MINES

Bruce Wallace, superintendent of the Mack Mines, arrived in Nevada City Tuesday and had four men reopening the mine which is in the Canada Hill district, southeast of Nevada City. The Stockton Hill mine, south of Grass Valley, is being leased to a new company and active work will start at once. This property carries strong veins of good value and holds much promise.

A heavy flow of water has hampered drifting operations at the Spring Hill mine to some extent. A tunnel is being run to cut and explore the lower workings of the Golden Gate property.

TOM RAY RETURNS

Tom Ray, formerly of Nevada City has returned from Los Angeles where he has spent eleven months. Tom says he worked one night in a restaurant and was paid for that one night. But his friends think the real reason he returned, was to argue with his old-time pal and friend, Tex. Ray has joined the camp at Purden's bridge. He and Tex agree that, with an army of snipers tramping back and forth, the road is much improved.

Thelma Malm returned to her home Sunday from the Nevada City Sanitarium, and is recuperating from an operation. Dr. B. W. Hummelt was her physician.

NOTED MEN ARE NAMED ON NEW MINING BOARD

For the past several years the State Mining Board, whose duty it is to advise with the Governor upon general policies for the guidance of the Division of Mines, was allowed to lapse. The mining men of the state, through their association, repeatedly urged that a new Board be appointed, but it was not until Governor Merriam assumed office that this important aid was secured. Due to the rising price of gold and the nation-wide concern over increasing the development of our natural resources as a constructive means of increasing our national employment and wealth, there has been a sudden expansion of our mining industry. Careful direction, assisted by the advice of men experienced in all phases of mining, is demanded in order that the accumulation of over twenty years of neglect and depression may be over-come and our miners, thru their initiative and production, and the state may reap the full benefit of this expansion.

"The personnel of the new State Mining Board is the surest guarantee of this," said J. C. Kemp, van Ee, Jr., secretary of the Mining Association of California.

The men chosen to serve were Errol MacBoyle, President of the Idaho-Maryland Mines Company, Grass Valley; Charles H. Segerstrom, President of the Carson Hill Gold Mining Corporation, Sonora; Robert A. Kinzie, Coonsulting Engineer, San Francisco; Edward M. Smith, President of the Emsco Asbestos Company, Los Angeles; and State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson, Sacramento.

"Our industry shows greater promise today than it has since '49. Like an invalid who finds himself out again, hearty and hale, it must adapt itself to a broader vision and a wider range of activities. That it will acquire these is evidenced by the new Board which is composed of men representative of both the north and the south of our state, who have struggled and succeeded, and who are known and trusted. Their readiness to serve, in the face of increasing demands being made upon them in their own business, without recompense, in behalf of their industry and their fellow miners, proves them to be the type of men upon whom the upbuilding of not only this industry but this country must depend."

EDWARD MORRIS SMITH

As one of the outstanding figures in the development of Southern California, Edward Morris Smith has also at all times shown great interest in civic and government affairs. Within the past 30 years he has risen from the ranks to a figure of international importance.

While heavily interested with large holdings in numerous institutions throughout the southwest, he is president and actively engaged in the following organizations:

Emsco Derrick and Equipment Co. with the main office in Los Angeles, branch offices in Dallas and Houston, Texas, and export offices in the city of New York.

E. M. Smith Company, of Los Angeles, manufacturing mechanical industrial and automotive products with 13 warehouses and hundreds of jobbers throughout the United States.

Emsco Asbestos Company, Downey, California, pioneer manufacturers of asbestos brake linings, with warehouses and distributors throughout the country.

Emsco Refractories Company, Los Angeles, operating two plants in Los Angeles and owning and operating mines at Victorville, Coroa, Ogilsby, and Wild, California.

Emsco Piston Company, Bell, California, manufacturing a complete line of alloy pistons for internal combustion motors.

Globe Oil Tools Company, Los Nidos, California, manufacturing the equipment for oil wells.

Emsco Engineering, Ltd., London, England, manufacturing a complete line of oil field equipment for distribution in foreign countries.

ERROL MACBOYLE

Sticking to his last, Errol MacBoyle's chief accomplishment as a mining engineer has been the making of the Idaho-Maryland mine, the third largest producer of gold in the state, after other engineers had spent millions on it and then turned it down.

Today he is general manager of the Idaho-Maryland Consolidated Mines, which is grinding out some $100,000 in gold each month. In addition he is director of the Mining Association of America.

Long one of the leading engineers of Grass Valley, Mr. MacBoyle had a varied experience before he reached that city. Some 43 years ago, as a schoolboy, surrounded by the talk of mines and mining in the city of Denver, he decided to become a mining engineer. Later, he witnessed the wild rush to settle the Oklahoma Strip. Still later, he graduated from the University of California. As an engineer for the California Department of Mines, he prepared a complete report of the mines of Nevada county which is today looked upon as the most authentic record issued.

When the late Harry Payne Whitney ceased operations at the Idaho-Maryland in 1925, after spending $2,225,000, MacBoyle, who had been consulting engineer, still believed that the other engineers had been wrong. Backed by his friends and after years of persistent effort, he has now the satisfaction of knowing that he was right.

ROBERT A. KINZIE

One of the chief accomplishments of Robert A. Kinzie, consulting engineer for the largest cement companies of California, has been the application of mining principles to the cement industry. His latest is the building of a pier, ship, and pumping devices whereby cement will be handled in bulk like oil, pumped aboard ship and later pumped into warehouses. At present the Santa Cruz Portland Cement Company is spending $2,500,000 on this project.

Besides the cement business, Mr. Kinzie is consulting engineer for a number of mining properties in Mexico and also for two mining exploration companies in California.

Although Mr. Kinzie was born in Boston, he is a graduate of the Engineering Department of the University of California in the Class of 1897. Since then he has successfully practiced his profession and made his home in San Francisco.

As one who shuns publicity, Mr. Kinzie wants what he has accomplished to speak for him. At the same time he has always given his time and energy to civic and government affairs. Even clubs do not attract him and his only diversion is his membership in the Engineer's Club.

CHAS. H. SEGERSTROM

One of the rare combinations is banker, lawyer and mine operator, found in Charles H. Segerstrom of Sonora. Although born in Minnesota, Mr. Segerstrom has made his home in California for the past 41 years.

Mining was his first vocation, when at the age of 16, he started to mine in Mexico. Since then he has been a miner in California, Nevada and Utah.

Although he was admitted to the Bar of California in 1901, and some years later was admitted to the United States Supreme Court on the motion of the late President William Howard Taft, he did not graduate from the University of Southern California until 1903. After these years of schooling, he entered the banking business and for many years he was president of the First National Bank of Sonora.

At present he is president of the Carson Hill Gold Mining Corporation, vice-president and director of the State Chamber of Commerce, vice president of the Bank of America, member of the American Institute Mining and Metallurgical Engineering Society, director of the American Mining Congress, and a trustee of the College of the Pacific at Stockton, California.

In Mr. Segerstrom's wonderful home in Sonora, he is found, whenever not taken away by business, surrounded by his wife, one daughter and four boys, all of whom take on the same keen interest in life.

CHARLES (GUS) JOHNSON

One of those who joined in the Alaska gold rush is Charles G. Johnsoon, the present State Treasurer of California, who from his youth has been in close touch with the mining industry and its problems. In the north country, he became the first territorial manager there, pioneering trails and establishing trading posts. Later when he returned to California he founded the Swedish-American Bank of San Francisco in 1906 and followed industrial development and mining.

Although engaged in private enterprises, his attention was also drawn to state problems. His operations against unscrupulous dealers who preyed on housewives by selling short weight commodities, attracted the attention of Governor Hiram Johnson. For that reason, he was appointed State Sealer of Weights and Measures. Since then his political progress has continued. In 1922, he became State Treasurer of California and has since continued in that office.

Mr. Johnson was born October 12, 1880, and married Isabelle Mary Jannsen in 1904. He has four children and one grandchild.

Mr. Johnson is a member of the Masonic order, the Sciots, Elks, Druids, Eagles, and the Union League Club, the Sutter Club, and the Alaska Yukon Club.

A. M. HOLMES
Nevada County Coroner—Offices in Nevada City and Grass Valley

Perhaps never before in the history of the county have the people given so much thought to the caliber of the man who will hold public office as well as their proved personal attributes and capabilities that would indicate how well they would hold their respective offices after being selected. This is true of the people of Nevada county, as it is of the nation. A. H. Holmes's constructive administration of his own private affairs and business has gained him a hearty regard and the respect of his colleagues, because his career as a citizen has been helpful and conducted in a sound and business-like manner. He has been indefatigable in his efforts to give the interests of his fellow citizens the best that is in him and his policies have been so manifestly honest and above board that he has won the plaudits of all, regardless of partisanship. It is such men who merit well at election time, for the day has passed when men are selected for office as a personal favor.

BANK OF AMER. TO AID U.S. HOME LOAN PROGRAM

Active participation of Bank of America in the Federal Government's program for improving city and rural real properties was announced today with the statement of A. P. Giannini, chairman of the board, that instructions are being forwarded to all branches to consider loans under terms of the Housing Act.

"We are in hearty accord with the President's program of stimulating employment and increasing activity in the building trades," said Giannini. "Bank of America has received its insurance contract from James A. Moffett, Federal Housing Administrator, and is prepared to cooperate to the fullest extent in extending the benefits provided in the act to all parts of California.

"Applications for loans from $100 to $2,000 to be used for alterations, repairs and improvements to homes, farm buildings and business properties will be received at all branches of our Bank.

"Such applications are subject to specific qualifications provided in the Housing Act and in the regulations of the Federal Housing Administrator. It is our conviction that a great many property owners in California will be able to qualify for this type of credit, and we foresee a distinct betterment for California real estate through the operations of the housing program.

"The solution of this nation's difficulties lies in the employment of men. This program will put man power on the job and for that reason our support of it will be a consistent continuation of our policies of cooperating with the government and of aiding in increasing employment."

SILVER USED TO PURIFY WATER IN SWIM POOLS

"The new swimming pool of the Congressional Country club of Washington, D. C., with capacity of 150,000 gallons will be purified by a method wholly new in the United States," says Business Week of June 23.

"As the water enters the tank it will flow past two sterling silver electrodes, using at less than 1.6 volts about enough direct current from a battery to light a 50 watt bulb. The cost of sterilizing the 150,000 gallons of water will be $3 in silver, say four ounces, and a few cents worth of current. The apparatus will be entirely automatic. Some years hence the electrodes will have to be replaced. That and keep the battery charged, is all the attention required. The water will have no noticeably changed odor or color.

"It is pointed out that if the silver process should replace one half the chlorination or violet ray sterilization plants eventually, it would be the largest industrial use of silver ever developed . . . "

The electrolytic silver process for purification of water was discovered and patented in Germany, and Catadyn, Inc., of New York, has purchased American rights. Silver thus used is not recoverable.—From Mining Review, July 25.

MAYO HELPED REDUCE NEVADA COUNTY TAXES

Nevada county now has probably the lowest tax rate on real and personal property in the memory of man. The actual cash savings to property owners of this county this year was $92,839 with an actual reduction in the tax rate of $1.56 per $100 assessed valuation and a net reduction after allowance for reduced valuation of $1.30 inside incorporated cities and $1.50 outside, according to Assemblyman Jesse M. Mayo, who is seeking re-election from this district. Nevada county will also receive another approximate reduction in the county tax rate next year of 30 cents when all public utility property is returned to the county assessment rolls to be taxed the same as all other property.

Mayo, who was co-author of the constitutional amendment which took over the county's portion of school costs and returned utility property to the county rolls, states that two years ago when he was campaigning for the office he now holds, he made a definite promoise to do everything in his power to reduce taxation on homes, ranches, and business property, and cites the above reductions of which a major portion was accomplished by legislative action, as part of his legislative record, along with other members of both the senate and assembly in carrying out his campaign pledges.

"Not only were city and county taxes reduced by legislative measures strongly supported by me at the last session, but state expenditures under the direct control of the legislature, were reduced thirty per cent," states Mayo.

FIVE MILE TUNNEL PLAN FOR SARDINE LAKE MINE

The H. R. Plate Operations, owners of the Spring Hill mine near Grass Valley, who recently secured control of the Young American mine at Sardine Lake, Sierra county, are talking of constructing a five mile tunnel, following the course of the Sierra City vein and under Sardine Lake.

"Bob" Plate, who was instrumental in the reopening of the Mountain Phoenix and Euclid mines in Sierra county, visualizes a huge low grade mining operation in conjunction with the Young American, mining all four properties by means of the long tunnel. The Plate interests control of the Young America includes four miles distance on the vein from the Yuba Pass highway. This will be explored in connection with the present operations at the Mountain mine. Development on the latter includes the Berry tunnel of 1400 foot length and cross cutting in the foot and hanging walls. Ledges up to 15 and 25 feet in width and carrying fair values, due to the new price, are said to be indicated.

Operations in the district are in charge of N. M. Wimmler, who has been associated with Plate in Alaskan mining ventures. W. Kesinger has been awarded a tunnel contract on the Young America.

The group of mines under Plate's control includes one of the largest and at one time most active minng sections of the high Sierra counties. —Western Mining News.

HIGHWAY BASEBALL TEAM DROPS A GAME

The state highway maintenance station baseball team, near Nevada City, lost their game to the Williams team Tuesday night. The score was 12 to 8 in favor of the West Siders, who are champions of that section.

The Nevada City lads had a lead of eight runs at one stage of the game, but Garrison, their pitcher, weakened and the Williams team put across runs enough to win.

Superintendent Fred R. Garrison, who is captain of the highway team, wants to match his boys with any outfit that aspires to play the game.

BUILDING OPERATIONS CONTINUE ACTIVE

Several new homes are being rushed to completion and among those reaching the final stages are:

The new home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tourtellotte, in Willow Valley, on the Will Davis property, which is now ready for shingles.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Davis, who are erecting a three room log house in Willow Valley on the Will Davis property, are coming on in fine shape. The house sets on a pine clad knoll that will be a beautiful spot.

The pretty new log home of Mr. and Mrs. Gove C. Celio up on the Taho Ukiah highway is practically completed. It is on the Dow subdivision and is beautifully situated in big pine and oak timber on a rock covered knoll. The grounds are most artistic.

MURCHIE MINE ROAD IS MUCH IMPROVED

Supervisor Cary S. Arbogast and crew of eight men completed rocking of the nine tenths of a mile of road to the Murchie mine last month. They are now giving the road a coating of oil. This will give the mining property a paved road.

Mr. Arbogast is far sighted enough to see that the mines are the money producers of this district in heavy gold production and the hiring of men.

DONNER PARTY TRAIL MARKING IS COMPLETED

The Donner Emigrant Trail marking expedition, organized by the United States Forest Service and the Lions club of Grass Valley and Auburn, has completed the route taken by the pioneers from Donner Monument to Mule Springs, Nevada county three miles north of Dutch Flat.

The final thirty miles of the trip were completed by Wendell Robie, one of the organizers of the party; John McIntosh, veteran forester; James Laing, Mrs. Dorothy Barber of Sacramento, who started with the party, and by William Patrick, Junior Patrick, Nels Crandall, William Lindbergh and Williard Miller, who joined on the final day. Forest Supervisor Richard Bigelow was called away on other duties a few miles from the finish.

ANOTHER PARTY PROBABLE

Both Bigelow and Robie expressed satisfaction at the result of the three-day trek, and hope to organize a party to mark the route from Mule Springs to Sutter's Fort in Sacramento.

The following is the description of the trail taken from Big Bend to Mule Springs, Nevada county, by Wendell T. Robie, president of the Auburn Lions club.

"From Big Bend the trail follows the south side of the Yuba River to high ground south of Red Rocky Hill, and between it and a small lily pad lake. Then follows a clearly defined rocky road into the Auburn Ski club grounds. This continues for a half mile along the river.

IS WELL DEFINED

"The pary crossed the river bed for a short distance to the north side and then re-crossed to the south side to climb the rocky mountain to Crystal Lake. The road is clearly defined.

"We passed two small lakes mentioned by John Marble in his diary at the pass into Six Mile Valley. At the upper part of the valley the party stopped at the site of the old Emigrant camp.

OLD BLAZE IS FOUND

"M. A. Kelly of Newcastle, who was at Six Mile Valley in 1858, states there were a great number of broken down emigrant wagons left at the camp site when he came there. A short distance below is a cottonwood tree, blazed '1847'.

"The road climbs the gentle grade and drops into Carpenter Valley from the site oof the present highway at the Yuba Pass Maintenance Station of the Division of Highways. The road into Carpenter Valley is clearly defined, as also are the successive improvements of the years which followed.

CROSSES THROUGH GAP

"Out of Carpenter Valley, the Emigrant Trail crossed the Emigrant Gap, now covered with ninety feet of railroad fill, to Bear Valley. From the lower end of Bear Valley, the road is rough and hilly, and at the crossing into little Bear Valley the trail is shown as a bench above the old Culbertson grade.

"The trail crossed Bear Valley about a mile below the present Zeibright mine, and climbed two hills. The second was so steep the emigrant wagons double teamed to the top of the ridge to Lowel Hill. From here the trail follows the top of the ridge to Mule Springs, three miles north of Dutch Flat."

Bigelow examined the early records of Nevada county, and found the McGuire ranch at Mule Springs is officially stated to be bounded on the south and east by the old Emigrant road. The ranch is owned by William McGuire of Nevada City.

JANES PRESENTS RECREATION PLAN FOR COMMUNITY

At the Chamber oof Commerce meeting last Tuesday night, Addison Janes, swimming pool superintendant, presented a plan for a Nevada City Athletic Club. He stated that the club would be organized to meet the needs of the community for recreational activities of all kinds. Classes for instruction in gymnastics, tumbling, wrestling and boxing would be organized. Members of the club would have the privilege of using the equipment of the club at all times during the club's hours.

All kinds of group activities and varieties of table games are to be a part of the program.

The Chamber of Commerce received Janes's plan with favor, and will examine a survey of Nevada City's recreational facilities and needs, which will also cover in detail Janes's plans for the proposed Athletic Club.

TROUT PICTURE ENLARGED

Billie Oates, genial and popular tobacco salesman, of Sacramento, and a Nevada City native, has on display at the Bret Harte Cigar store in Nevada City, a beautifully enlarged picture of three speckled trout. The fish, property of Mr. Oates, were caught in Lake Spaulding and the three weighed ten and a half pounds. Although the enlargement was made from a small film it is the finest seen in some time.

When this suggestion was solemnly complied with, making use of the deck of cards, it was found that Slocum had won.

"So far, so good," said Hays, as if relieved. "Now let's see. . . Smoky, tomorrow you take your gang, includin' Brad, an' quit. Pack a slew of grub an' grain, an' hide out below. Cache what you don't need. I'll go to Grand Junction for new hands. See? But all I'll come back with will be instructions for you to follow. Then you can go drivin'."

"Good. An' how about the cash?"

"Wal, them buyers won't pay me in advance, you can gamble on thet. But they'll pay you. Just divide with your outfit an' save our share."

"Short an' sweet. I like it more all the time," declared Smoky.

"We'll want to know where your camp is," went on Hays. "Reckon I'd better ride out with you tomorrow."

"No. You rustle for Grand Junction. We'll see thet Happy an' Jim know where to find our camp."

Jim thought of something: "Men, has it occurred to you that you can't drive cattle up this road and through the ranch?"

"Shore. No need. It'd be a seventy-mile drive if we came this way. But we'll drive round by Limestone, an' up the other valley road. About the same distance to Grand."

The conference ended. Hays turned to the open fire, and seeking a seat in the shadow by the chimney he pondered. It was Jim's opinion that the chief had vastly more on his mind than he had divulged. Lincoln gave him a suspicious stare. The others seemed eminently pleased with the outlook, though no more was said in Jim's hearing. They joked and smoked.

Jim bade them good night and went out. His last glimpse of Hays was thought-provoking. Lighting another cigar, Jim strolled up and down the porch, revolving in mind the conference.

It was a spring night, starry, with an edge on the mountain air that meant frost in the morning.

Was it possible that this lantern-eyed robber had evil intentions toward Herrick's sister? Jim scouted the suspicion.

"Hang the girl part of it, anyhow," he muttered, flinging his half-smoked cigar out into the noisy brook. Why did a woman have to come along to upset the best-laid plans of men?

The next morning brought somber faces and action. Five of Hays' outfit rode away with six of the pack horses and most of the supplies. Hays watched them until they disappeared among the cedars.

"Wal, now I'll brace the boss," he said.

"What excuse will you give him?" asked Jim.

"Anythin' would do to tell Herrick. But Heeseman will see through me, I'm afeared."

"Very well. You tell Herrick that your outfit split over me."

"Over you? Dog-gone! Thet ain't so poor. But why?"

"Both Slocum and Lincoln are sort of touchy about gun-throwing, aren't they? Well, tell him how queer that brand of gunman is—how he instinctively hates the real gunman. And that Slocum and Lincoln made you choose between them and me."

"Ahuh. Sort of so the idea will get to Heeseman's ears that in a pinch with guns I'd rather have you backin' me than them?"

"Exactly."

Not long afterward Hays returned to the cabin jubilant. "You'd never guess, Jim. That Englisher laughed like the very devil. An' he ordered me to ride off after some desperadoes who're not afraid of Jim Wall."

"Ha! Ha! But Heeseman won't get a laugh out of it."

"Shoot the lights out of him," said Hays, fiercely. "Wal, I'm off for Grand. Happy, pack me a snack of grub."

"How long will it take you to ride over?"

"Eight hours, I reckon. An' I'll be back tomorrow night."

"Certainly these buyers will know you're selling stolen cattle?"

"Oh, shore."

After Hays had gone Jim settled himself to pass the hours away.

"Mebbe it won't be so tedious," observed Happy Jack, dryly. "We've got three rifles an' a sack of shells right handy. So let 'em come."

Jim half expected a visit from Herrick, but the morning dragged by without any sign of anyone. About mid-afternoon, however, six riders appeared coming down the lane along the bench. The sight made Jim start. How often had he seen the like—a compact little company of riders, dark-garbed, riding dark horses! It was tremendously suggestive to a man of his experience.

He reached inside the door and, drawing out his rifle, advanced to the front of the porch.

A Growing City Must Have Financial Pains

It costs money to maintain any kind of government, even a small city government. To improve the streets, to light them adequately, to maintain peace and good order, to provide sewers for good health, and a water system for cleanliness and good health, taxes must be assessed and collected.

And—if the city grows—as Nevada City is growing—it is necessary to prepare for both immediate and future needs.

Now Nevada City, during the past year, ending July 1, accomplished several worth-while things. Streets on Piety Hill were graded and graveled. That cost $4,954. New pipe lines from the Canada Hill reservoir down to the city mains cost another $4,281. Cleaning up and remodeling the City Hall cost $593. These capital expenditures aggregated $9,828. An audit covering the city's books for the past four years cost $450, and was well worth the money. New laws now compel the city to spend $1,200 for insurance as against $300 a year oor two ago.

Here are the main facts about the city's income and outlay.

FARMERS NEED AIRFLOW CARS FOR FREIGHT

By RALPH H. TAYLOR

Stream-lined, air-conditioned, super-speed trains are rapidly supplanting the old fashioned, inefficient coaches in the passenger service of American railroads—a reassuring sign that the railroad companies are finally awakening to the challenge of modern competition!

But the average farmer's enjoyment of the modernized trains, due to the pinch of economic conditions, is largely restricted to watching them streak by his fields.

The new mode in railroading, however, may ultimately have tremendous significance for agriculture—if present improvements in passenger service are carried into the freight and express service!

To the California farmer, far removed from his markets, and with transportation costs often exceeding the total cost of producing his crops, a new day of cheaper, faster transportation would spell recovery and profits after years of depression and deficits.

In the California citrus industry, for example, freight bills represent the largest single item in the cost sheet, exceeding the cost of production and far more than surpassing the grower's returns.

Based on last season's figures, according to Paul S. Armstrong, manager of the California Fruit Growers Exchange, it cost 87 cents to produce a box of oranges, without allowance for interest or depreciation. And it cost $1.12 to transport the box to market!

The average transportation cost for the season, reports the Exchange, was 41 per cent of the delivered price.

In many other branches of agriculture, much the same situation exists, with freight charges taking the profit out of the business, regardless of the farmer's economies in growing his products.

While the railroads undoubtedly have many difficulties to meet in reducing their costs to permit the drastic reductions in transportation rates which are essential, it is very true that rapid progress must be made toward a new deal of faster and cheaper transportation if they are to hold the business.

Pacific Coast agriculture, due to the distance to its markets, will probably always rely, in the main, on rail transportation, and it is to the interest of California farmers to support the railroads in every legitimate effort toward their rehabilitation.

But the farmer cannot afford to continue with transportation rates which have the effect of forcing him to operate his business for the support of the railroads.

It is to be hoped, both from the standpoint of the railroads and from the standpoint of agriculture, that the counterpart of the stream-lined, super-speed passenger trains will soon make their appearance in the freight service.

Substantial freight rate reductions would do more to return California agriculture to a reasonable measure of prosperiy than any other single factor.

And a prosperous agriculture, in turn, would be more important than any other development in speeding all forms of business and industrial recovery in the state as a whole.

COOLEY BUTLER BUYS GOLDEN CENTER SHARES

It is reported from authorative sources in Grass Valley that Cooley Butler of Los Angels, has bought the remaining outstanding shares of the Golden Center mine which lies in the heart of Grass Valley. It is also rumored that development in the mine is showing excellent ore. This property has a good record.

Captain Waldo Telfer, commander of the Tahoe-Ukiah CCC camp, served a camp barbecue Thursday evening to the Grass Valley Lion's club at Skillman Flat, 16 miles above Nevada City.

FIRE HAZARDS MAY CLOSE BIG HUNTING AREA

Apprehension that the dangerous fire conditions this year may result in large forest fires which will necessitate closures of forest areas has caused the Forest Service to call on sportsmen and other forest users for more than their usual cooperation in fire prevention this season. Carelessness with fire especially in smoking, is likely to mean closure of the forests. The opening of the deer season in state game districts 2, 3-4, 4, and 4-3-4 on August 16, means the rush of an army of hunters into the National forests hunting grounds where fire hazards are the highest and the potential destruction of watershed values are the greatest, according to Regional Forester S. B. Show. On that date the deer hunting season opens in all of southern California and parts of Mendocino, Lake and Glenn counties.

The Fish and Game Commission has closed to hunting 6,000 acres on Elk Mountain in the Mendocino National Forest upon recommendation of the Lake County Association of Sportsmen. This area was burned over in 1933 by the Dan Ptney fire. This action is considered imperative if the wild life resource on the area is to be protected and perpetuated, according to Forest Service officials. Burned areas offer no protection to deer and hunting should be prohibited on large burns until conditions of forage and cover are again normal.

SALES OF CHEVROLET CARS, BRISK, SAYS CELIO

Gove Celio reports that sales of Chevrolet and Oldsmobile cars are still holding up well in this district. A recent list of buyers includes: Chevrolet De Luxe sedan, Victor Bongard, Graniteville; Peter Fossit Oldsmobile coupe; Angelo Zugoni, of Grass Valley, Oldsmobile sedan.

MINERS TO MEET TO DISCUSS R F C LOANS

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—The plans for a series of meetings covering the entire state of California for the discussion and explanation of R F C mining loans, the American plan of cooperation and other problems of the mining industry, have just been completed by the Mining Association of California. Well known speakers, thoroughly conversant with mining affairs and conditions, will talk at the meetings which have been arranged.

The meeting in this section will be held in Grass Valley, Tuesday, August 21, at 8 p. m., at the Legion Auditorium.

P. G. AND E. PAYS BIGGEST TAX

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company on Monday, August 13, paid $3,713,839.32, to State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson as the first installment on its 1934 state tax bill, which totals $7,427,678.64. This total, representing 9 per cent of the company's gross revenue during the year ending December 31, 1933, makes P. G. & E. the largest taxpayer in California for the second year in succession. The Southern Pacific Company is next on the list.

On the basis of $7,427,678.64 for the year, P. G. & E., pays state taxes at the rate of $20,349.80 per day, or $847.91 every hour.

This year's levy averages $5.85 for every one of the company's 1,269,910 consumers.

GREATEST CIRCUS IS COMING SOON

The world's mightiest amusement entourage, the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus with its gigantic 1934 program of new world-wide wonders, many of which have never before appeared in America, is definitely scheduled to exhibit in Sacramento, Tuesday, August 28.

The gorgeous, vastly enlarged inaugural spectacle, "The Durbar of Delhi" stupendously introduces the multitude of arenic marvels that succeed this pompous panoramic display.

The great new international congress of features presented in the seven rings and stages, huge hippodrome track and the maze of aerial riggings includes the recently imported Otari Troupe in the most astounding mid-air feats ever witnessed. These intrepid performers fly from all points of the compass at the same time in perilous forward and reverse flights through space from their lofty aerial cross.

The Otaris with such arenic notables as Mlle. Gillette, Europe's sensation of the air, now appearing in this country for the first time and the celebrated Torence-Dolores, Merkels, Willos and Spurgat Troupes, all new to this continent, are among the 800 men and women circus stars presented by the big show this year.

The circus bears on its four long trains of 100 double-length steel railrooad cars more than 1600 people, 50 elephants, 1009 menagerie animals and 700 horses.

The great Con Colleano, tumbling, forward-sommersaulting tight wire star has been recalled from European triumphs to join the great Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Constellation of stars.

There are 150 internationally famous clowns in the gala 1934 performances of the world's largest circus—the greatest congress of funmakers evere assembled.

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND
Director, Physical and Health Education
New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

Caring for the Teeth

An unclean mouth takes the edge off one's appetite. Sore gums and painful teeth naturally curb a desire to eat and encourage bolting.

Observations seem to indicate that we overlook these facts too frequently when dealing with children. A look into a child's mouth would be revealing to many parents.

Proper care of the teeth is a two-fold matter. Teeth ought to be examined regularly by a dentist and his instructions followed. He will tell you that food is the important factor in preventing tooth decay.

The chief foods for teeth are the so-called "protective foods"—milk, fruits and vegetables. Do not deprive a child of any of these if you wish him to have sound, even teeth.

A child should also be taught to care for his own teeth. Brushing the teeth and gums is an important habit, though we do not any longer believe that cleanliness alone will prevent tooth decay. Nevertheless it is as important as washing the face or hands and every child should learn it early in life.

Dental caries, or decay of the teeth, has been called the most prevalent disease in America. It is estimated that 90 to 95 per cent of all children have it. Parents, by proper care, can prevent much of it.

Summer vacation time approaches. Dr. Ireland will discuss its special problems next week.

DRUNKEN DRIVER BREAKS CHILD'S LEG; FINED $25

Emilio Serventi was fined $25 and sentenced to 10 days in jail for reckless driving. The complaint was that he hit two small girls while driving under the influence of liquor. The girls were Roselle Biggs and Margie Cook, who suffered a broken leg. The jail sentence was suspended for thirty days, providing the defendant pays all costs of the injuries. Dr. B. W. Hummelt was the attending physician. Municipal Judge Miles D. Coughlin passed sentence upon Serventi.
